

CALL TO ARTISTS
Tennessee Valley Unitarian Universalist Church Art Gallery
Knoxville, Tennessee

The Tennessee Valley Unitarian Universalist Gallery is planning exhibitions for August 2017 through July 2018. Artists living within 250 miles of Knoxville are encouraged to submit proposals.

This premier not-for-profit gallery, located just west of The University of Tennessee, programs six exhibitions per year, showcasing regional artists working in a wide variety of styles, media, and genres. The gallery can only show work that is (primarily) two-dimensional and ready to hang in a professional manner. Work must be appropriate for audiences of all ages. The TVUUC Art Gallery Committee reserves the right to pair artists for two-person exhibitions but will also consider artists for one-person exhibitions as well as group shows by arts organizations. Exhibitions typically run for two months.

To learn more about TVUUC, please visit our Web site: <http://www.tvuuc.org>.

The nonrefundable entry fee for submitting a proposal is $30 per individual artist or $60 per organization. The gallery provides publicity and hosts a reception for the artist(s) whose work is selected.

Individual artists will submit a CD or flash-drive with eight to ten images of the work (or type of work) they wish to show, a one-paragraph bio with name, address, phone, email address, a brief artist's statement and an image list including title, size and media.
